Figure 5.1: Data from the 2000 Presidential election in Florida. This graph shows the result of comparing one column of data, the number of registered Reform voters, with another column of data, the number of votes for Buchanan. The two columns are merged by using county as the common key. Note that Palm Beach stands out.